IN BRIEF

Experienced business leader with 20+ years in C-suite leadership, marketing, sales, and strategy, specializing in working directly with senior clients to drive growth across industries including software and technology, financial services, media, telecommunications, and CPG.

Currently leading the enterprise B2B Marketing and Sales (Commercial Excellence) practice in APAC at Accenture Song, where I bring together strategy, technology, and operations to deliver integrated solutions and measurable impact on our clients growth and revenue.

My understanding of Google's products, approach and culture comes from having worked with Google as a partner, vendor and supplier over my entire career. Currently I have direct responsibility for developing Accenture Song's relationship with Google across APAC.

Over 16 years at WPP, I worked in all key parts of the agency ecosystem including consumer research (Kantar), media (Mindshare), programmatic (Xaxis) and creative services (Wunderman).

I specialise in regional roles within large, complex and often matrixed organisations. I understand how to work successfully with diverse stakeholders, and I know what it takes to connect global, regional and local priorities in results driven environments.

I am passionate about contributing to the industry as an author, keynote speaker & panelist talking about how technology, data & creativity impact growth, marketing, sales & business strategy.

WHAT DRIVES ME

I Am Results Driven

Throughout my career, I have delivered tangible results for the businesses I have lead and for the clients I have been engaged on.

I believe that if it can be measured, it can be improved.

I Thrive in Team Environments

I dislike working alone. My energy and creativity comes from working in teams, sharing ideas and achieving results together.

I Embrace New Challenges

My life has always provided new opportunities and challenges, and I have embraced these, for better or worse.

Whether it is in my professional life or my interests, I enjoy being exposed to & diving deeply into new opportunities to learn and grow.
